

4. For the sake of planning, please map out your plan for taking the required courses for the major. See the attached AMST CURRICULUM OVERVIEW. Be as specific as possible.

Remember, you must take at least one Civ III and Civ IV course during your Junior year, even if you've taken classes that count as Civ IIIs and IVs already. Why? Beginning in 2016, a team of faculty has been working to tailor these courses to Juniors who will be preparing for senior thesis. If you also want to study abroad Junior year (great idea!), plan to take your Civ III and IV during the same semester your Junior year.

Here's a basic framework:

Sophomore - Am Civ I and II, two history courses, electives of interest

Junior – study abroad one semester, Am Civ III and IV and electives that may inform your thesis project and introduce you to potential faculty advisers

Senior – Sr Thesis I and II, electives

What is your plan? (fill in)

Sophomore - Am Civ I and II

Junior – Am Civ III and IV

Senior – Sr Thesis I and II

5. What questions do you have about the American Studies Program and/or major requirements?
6. Is there anything else about yourself that you'd like to share to help faculty and staff of the American Studies Program help make your experience as edifying as possible?
